The Democrat to the Country.

Remember that the daily Democrat costs but 60 cents per month, $3 50 for six months, and $6 for a year's subscription. This is, taking into account the extent and variety of its reading matter, the cheapest daily paper West. Its departments are complete and it is issued every day in the year.

NB—Advertising is to business what a good fertilizer is to the earth; it makes cent. per cent. returns.

Advertise in a paper of universal circulation; a paper which maintains right principles in all things; a paper acceptable alike to good men of all parties and creeds; and such a paper the Democrat is conceded to be by all men whose opinion is worth having.

NB—The cheap rates at which the Democrat is supplied to subscribers, and the promptness with which it is delivered to all portions of the city and suburbs, render it acceptable to all classes and interests. It costs but fifteen cents per week for seven papers. Its departments are thorough and complete. In its present form the Democrat is the cheapest paper in the West or South.

A Poor, Pitiful Knave.

The Courier gratified its poor, little, sneaking malice again yesterday by withholding from us the advertisement of Wharton, Foster & Co., auctioneers. It will be seen elsewhere. It is a notice of the sale of "the effects of the Louisville Manufacturing Company," in accordance with a resolution of the stockholders, and is of interest to dealers and manufacturers. This was left with instructions at the Courier and in consideration of a promise to furnish proof-slips of the same to the Louisville Democrat.

Receiving it under such instructions, the publisher so far defrauded the advertiser by a breach of his promise, adding a swindle to his necessary lie. There is something laughable, as well as annoying, in this kind of conduct. The poor coward, shrinking from any open act of injury, resorts to such petty, little, malicious acts as this. The weak are always liars, and it is a fit adjunct to indecent literature, prurient sensations, and profanity, to find the organ of Kitty Katts and the demimonde showing its poor little venom in this way—stinging the hand that feeds it, in hopes it will injure us.

We hope the business community will take this as a warning not to intrust any business they have with us to the Kitty Katt and Yule loan organ. It will no more be furnished us in accordance with promises than money obtained by a like fraud would be handed over. It is a poor, disreputable, dirty sheet, sneaking along the by-ways of humanity, and living by tricks, lies and slander, actuated by a sordid and petty jealousy of a cotemporary which it can never rival in an open, honorable way; hence it resorts to such little tricks of malice to gratify a spleen it does not manifest more openly.

Meeting of the Council Last Night—The Proceedings.

The Council met at the Council Chamber at the usual hour last evening, president Pal. Bannon, of the lower board, being in the chair.

A communication was read from Geo. C. Shadburne and all the policemen appointed by the commissioners, stating that they had rendered faithful service to the city since the 20th of April, and that no appropriation had been made for their pay, and asking that the same be done. The petition was referred to the committee on police.

An ordinance in regard to the improvement of streets in accordance with the late amendments to the charter was adopted.

A resolution was passed instructing the Mayor to inform all turnpike companies whose roads extend into the city limits that the city will keep that portion of the road in complete repair if they will relinquish to the city that portion of the said road.

The Council adjourned till next Thursday night.

NB—The Courier having ordered the Council to expel Col. Dent upon the trumped-up charges published in the Kitty Katt organ, and that honorable body having disobeyed the order, furnishes another occasion for that delectable sheet to hurl its puny denunciations at the members thereof. We suppose those Councilmen, who were gulded by their judgment, were quite capable of determining the question without the advice of the Kitty Katt. However, the fellow who aspires to direct public opinion and rule the Democratic party, its conventions, its primary meetings, &c., has sadly miscalculated of late. He has on several occasions undertaken to apply the lash in local affairs—to order the Council and the Police Commissioners what line of policy to pursue. It has transpired that they have generally done exactly the opposite, and hence the woe and agony of the Kitty Katt.

The McCoole and Coburn Affair—How Bets are to be Decided.

We publish elsewhere the New York Clipper's views of the recent grand fizzle in the prize ring. Mr. Queen, the editor of that sheet, was the depository of the match money, and has its disposition. From his article it can be seen at a glance that there is nothing said against Coburn, nor anything denying that he and his friends connived at the arrest. It can, in our judgment, be easily proven that Coburn could have kept out of the way, and it is patent that the affair could have been brought to a satisfactory conclusion, if Coburn and his friends had so desired.

As to McDermott's card, it is all bosh. Frank Queen has no power to withhold the battle money, nor have it increased. His province is to hear the testimony pro and con, and either give it up to the winner, or decide a draw. McCoole and his friends will see that there is no draw made. As to increasing the stakes and fighting in Canada at a future day, we would only say from our experience that McCoole would be a great dolt to do it. Every one who has a grain of common sense knows he has no chance to win any fight East of Cincinnati. We are certain that a proposition to increase the stakes and fight within fifty miles of Louisville or St. Louis would be rejected by Coburn's friends. In no other locality can the affair be fairly decided than here in the West.

The Entertainment of the Blind.

As we hoped and predicted Weisiger Hall was crowded last night with the friends of the blind asylum. Mr. Patten exhibited his scholars to the best advantage, and the music was superb. The recitations in geometry by Miss Troendle were remarkable. We thought, and know, that not a pupil of the Male High School could compete with them in the examination of Cicero, Virgil and other Latinists.

Miss Julia Burnett, a lovely young girl from Mason county, with all the graces of girlhood about her, was exceedingly happy in the rendition of her part. Her touch upon the piano is soft and touchy.

We have not the compass and time to speak as we desire of the other elegant performers of this exhibition. We cannot refrain, however, noticing the song of

LIZZIE SHAEFFER.

Her German song was the great catch-word of the assembly. She is the most winsome, unaffected and charming of all the pupils that we ever met in public. Her life seems to have blossomed full out of the rose without the first ray of sunlight approaching. Were it not that her future is so blighted, we should hope all of so brilliant a young girl. Under the guardianship of Mr. Patten we feel assured that all will be right.

WOODLAWN RACES.

Fourth Day of the Spring Meeting—Excellent Sport—This the Closing Day.

Another fine crowd was in attendance at the Woodlawn yesterday, including a large and brilliant assemblage in the ladies' stand. The weather was the most pleasant of any day during the week, being clear, with a good breeze stirring, so that the oppressiveness of the heat was not felt. The track, under the management of the most admirable superintendent, was in excellent order, and those who visited the track expecting to see fine sport were not in the least disappointed.

FIRST RACE.

This was for the Louisville Hotel purse of $400, two-mile heats, for colts and fillies three years old. For this four started—Kilgour's "Lexington Filly," L. Paul's "Jessamine Porter," Buford's "Crossland," and Loud's "Dick Jackson." The "knowing ones" seemed to center upon Buford's entry, and it was the favorite, being about even against the field. They all got off in a bunch at the tap of the drum, and we were unable to catch the position of the horses until they passed the quarter pole, which is done in the following order: Buford first, Paul second, Kilgour third, and Loud in the rear. On the back stretch the two lead horses increase their speed, and open a gap on the others, Loud going to the third position. In this position they run until making the last turn, when Paul is urged forward to the lead, the horses passing the string on the first mile in 1:51; Paul first, Buford second, Loud third, and Kilgour fourth. During the second mile of the heat there is no comparative change in the position of the horses. Buford makes several beautiful bushes for the heat, but he is unable to catch the fleet filly of Paul, who wins the heat in 3:46, the time of the second mile being 1:55.

After the above heat, the knowing ones began to hedge, and the betting changed greatly, Paul selling as the favorite, with more offers than the friends of the others were willing to take. The second heat was a most beautiful one, warmly contested, and one which fooled all those who professed to have horse sense. They get off well together, when the drum is tapped, Buford and Loud being side by side in the lead, with Kilgour third and Paul last. In this way they run until coming out from behind the hedge, when Paul goes by Kilgour and takes the third position in the race. They pass the string, on the first mile, in 1:51, Buford first, closely pressed by Loud, Paul third and Kilgour fourth, both being well up. On the second mile, all the nags make for the heat, and along the back stretch are well together. When they reappear from behind the clump of trees, they are in a bunch, and the contest becomes exciting. On entering the home stretch, Loud shows in the lead, Kilgour second and making for the heat, Buford third and Paul last. Down the home stretch the race is between Loud and Kilgour, and the latter, being well handled, takes the first place, and passes the string first in 3:45, winning the heat. The second mile was run in 1:51.

Another change came over the dream of the belters, Kilgour being the favorite with an innumerable number of backers. They had another good send-off for this heat. On making the first turn Loud shoots to the front and takes the lead, the others being well together, and some two lengths in the rear, and in this way the first mile is run, the string being passed in 1:51. On the second mile Kilgour makes for the heat, and at the quarter pole has gained the second position. He then brushes for the heat, which increases the speed of Loud, and these two soon open a big gap upon the others. They disappear behind the hedge locked, the others being fully a distance in the rear. They come out of the hedge together and turn into the home stretch side by side. Down the stretch the contest is not only close, but exciting, the whip and spur being freely applied to each nag. Kilgour proves the fleetest, passing the string first in 3:47¾, Loud a good second, and the others distanced. The last mile was run in 1:55¾. Here is the

This was for the purse of $100, given by W. Scott Glore, for a dash of one mile, for all ages. Four started for this race, Cheatham's coltawah, Vittitoe's Melinda Lewis, Kilgour's tilly, by Mickey Free, and Ford's Lexington filly. In the pool-selling the latter had the call, selling at about even against the field. This was an exciting and well contested race, as well as the other. THE RACES TO-DAY.

This will be the closing and gala day of the week, and we hope to see present one of the largest crowds that ever honored the Woodlawn with their appearance. There will be two races, the first a dash of three miles, and the other mile heats, for beaten horses. Both of these races will be closely contested and exciting.

The present management have been energetic, enterprising and liberal, and have done much to restore upon a firm basis racing in this vicinity. We have here one of the finest tracks to be found in America, and with the proper encouragement from our business men Louisville could be made the great racing point of the country, and through this means thousands of strangers would annually be brought to Louisville. We trust that the proper encouragement will be given to Mr. Farris and others, and that the fall meeting over the Woodlawn will be one of the finest ever held in the State, and one that will establish Woodlawn as the race course of the West.

In both of the races yesterday the knowing ones fell heavily, as the horse in each race, which was selling for a mere song to fill up, proved the winner.

BASE BALL.—The Athletic Club, of Philadelphia, is to play the Louisville Club, the champions of the State, at Cedar Hill, on the 9th instant. —John Murphy, one of the mates of the steamer Indiana, was arrested and brought before the United States Commissioner yesterday, on a charge of shooting Andrew Hay, a negro deck-hand on the boat, a short time ago. He was held in $1,200 bond to answer in the U. S. Court, October 7th next.

A LONG SENTENCE.—In looking yesterday over the minute book made by the Clerk of the City Court we saw an order entered that John Huber, aged 11 years, be committed to the house of refuge until he shall become 2,100 years of age. This is the longest sentence we have ever heard of, being 2,089 years.

PERSONAL.—Our friend John Haley, Esq., of Frankfort, who has given many years to affairs of enterprise in Central Kentucky, is again in our city. He intends removing hereso soon as he may be enabled to purchase a suitable residence. His accession to our business community will be hailed with great pleasure.

THE POLICE CASE.—The important case testing the constitutionality of the late police act was submitted to Judge Stites, of the Court of Common Pleas, a few days since. METHODISM IN KENTUCKY.—Such is the title of a beautifully printed and elegantly illustrated book from the press of the Southern Methodist Publishing Society. It is by the Rev. A. H. Redford, one of the most efficient preachers in Kentucky. We shall take occasion to speak at length of this volume.

REAL ESTATE BULLETIN.—The June number of this valuable and popular journal has been laid on our desk by its enterprising proprietors, Messrs. Morris, Southwick & Co. As its name imports, real estate is the speciality of the Bulletin; but in addition to this, it is the earnest advocate of every improvement calculated to advance the material prosperity of the city. We are glad to know that the Bulletin is increasing in circulation, and that its proprietors are meeting with well-deserved encouragement.

CONTEMPT OF COURT.—Yesterday during the trial of some docket cases against parties for disorderly houses, John Sheridan, an officer who had had an indictment procured against one of the parties, became considerably incensed because the Judge allowed a time to be confessed, and made use of remarks of an insulting nature to the court. He was fined $3 and sentenced to confinement in the jail for four hours, and was taken to Castle Thomas by City Marshal Alec. Gilmore. After being confined there about an hour he was discharged.

SENT TO CINCINNATI FOR TRIAL.—We mentioned Thursday morning the arrest, by officers Bligh, Tiller, Gallagher and O'Connell, of John Cain and L. H. Goehgan, as suspected felons. It appeared, since the arrest of the parties, that Cain, who was employed in a Cincinnati house, had smuggled from them some $600 worth of fancy goods, which he and the other man had disposed of at auction in this city. The parties were captured just as they were leaving the city—Cain on the ferry-boat, and the other on the mailboat. They were both yesterday, by their consent, turned over to Cincinnati officers, and taken there for trial.

PROTESTANT AND EPISCOPAL ORPHAN ASYLUM.—At a meeting of the Protestant Episcopal Orphan Asylum, it was resolved that the thanks of the managers be publicly expressed to the ladies and gentlemen who kindly consented to give a concert for the benefit of the orphans in this institution. Feeling assured that the friends of the asylum were well repaid for their attendance by the delightful music on the occasion, as well as the knowledge of having rendered pecuniary assistance to these unfortunate little ones, the managers take pleasure, on behalf of the orphans, to tender their thanks to both those who gave the concert and those who so generously patronized it.

AN IMPORTANT CASE—CHARGE AGAINST DETECTIVE GALLAGHER.—The Democrat, of yesterday, mentioned the arrest of James Ballow, alias Kelley, a notorious horse thief, charged with horse stealing in Indiana, it being alleged that there are several indictments against him in that State. Before the meeting of the City Court yesterday morning, the warrant against Ballow was dismissed. It is said that he was subsequently arrested and taken to Indiana. A warrant was then taken out by Major Allen, counsel for Ballow, alleging that Officer J. S. Gallagher had transported to the State of Indiana, contrary to his will, the said Ballow, and contrary to a late statute which says that a party guilty of the same shall be confined in the penitentiary not less than one nor more than twenty years. Officer Gallagher appeared in court, and the case was continued until to-day. Judge Craig required no bond of Mr. Gallagher, but merely told him to appear to-day. From what we heard yesterday, some rich facts may be developed in this case, which will come up this morning. We will give a full report of the case when it is investigated.

DARING HIGHWAY ROBBERY—A MAN KNOCKED FROM HIS BUGGY AND $3,500 STOLEN FROM HIM.—At about 10 o'clock last night J. H. Morris drove up to the west-end station in his buggy, his face all cut and bleeding, and called for a policeman. Several of them being in the vicinity at the time, he stated to them that he was robbed of $4,500 about an hour previous (9 P. M.) on the old Portland railroad and Twenty-sixth street or the cross roads. He stated that he was returning towards his home, on the old railroad, near Sixteenth street, from Portland, whither he had been to settle up some business and arrange some contracts. As he crossed Twenty-Sixth street, driving in the old

Air Line Railroad from Louisville to the Gulf.

It has long been evident to us that the great Western and Southern States imperatively demand a direct railroad connection from the Lakes to the Gulf. The increase of trade has rendered this connection an absolute necessity. For the want of this road, a trade that should come to us from a Southern port reaches us by the Northern and Eastern railways. For instance, all vessels laden with the products of South America, instead of landing their freights at our nearest harbor, sail for New York, thus increasing the expense of transportation, and to that expense must be added the railroad charges from New York. Coffee designed for Atlanta and Montgomery reaches those cities by the way of New York and the line of roads from that city.

The necessity of the connection in question is so evident to any thinking mind that a demonstration of it is unnecessary.

The question we propose to discuss at this time is, what point shall be the Southern terminus of this great national artery?

A careful study of the map, on the part of any fair-minded man, will convince him that New Orleans, Mobile or Pensacola must be the Southern terminus. New Orleans is about one hundred miles from the ocean, and situated upon a stream the navigation of which is extremely uncertain, and, in consequence of the constant deposit at its mouth, becoming more uncertain every year. Large sea-going vessels cannot come near the city, but must receive their freights from lighters. This repeated handling increases the charges and renders New Orleans a very expensive shipping point.

The same objections can be urged against Mobile. Her harbor is fast becoming filled up, and the day is not very distant when to all practical purposes she will be an inland town with little or no trade at all. At present not one single bale of cotton can be shipped from New Orleans or Mobile without incurring the expense of lighterage.

The harbor at Pensacola is doubtless the finest one on the Southern coast. A singular fact connected with it is that the depth of water has not changed within the last fifty years. There are no large steamers entering the harbor to empty their washings therein and fill up the channel. The latter, too, remains unchanged, and any vessel can enter without the aid of a port pilot. The Pensacola harbor is perfectly and completely land-locked, with an average depth of 21 feet water, where the shipping of the world can enter and ride in safety.

The largest sea-going vessels can come up to the wharf and receive their freights direct from the cars. There is no lighterage necessary. One single handling of freights is all that is required. The New Orleans Picayune, of course partial to its own city, says:

> Naturally, as a citizen of New Orleans, we feel a pride in her past and a deep interest in her future prosperity. We know and appreciate the vast natural advantages over every other Southern port, and feel that if our citizens keep pace with the march of events we have nothing whatever to fear from any quarter.
>
> It would be well for us, however, while resting in this feeling of security, not to underrate the advantages of our sister cities of the gulf.
> True, Mobile, with the many disadvantages under which she labors, can never hope to attain much greater commercial prosperity than she has known in the past—the shoalness of the water in her bay being, in our opinion, an insurmountable obstacle; but Pensacola, which has but few superiors in the world, may, when the roads shall have been completed connecting her with the North and Northwest, rise to be, if not a rival of New Orleans, at least a commercial center of a vast extent of country.

A contemporary, in an article referring to "New Orleans as a port and harbor," speaks of Pensacola as being unsafe for vessels, and Santa Rosa Island is termed "a narrow sand pile, which is every year threatened with overflow and destruction."

There are but few, if any, safer bays or harbors than Pensacola. It has often and truly been said that the navies of the world might ride in safety there during any storm. It affords good anchorage, and is completely sheltered from the gulf. A sheet of water any more land-locked than Pensacola harbor would be a lake and not a bay—there being but one pass sufficiently wide and deep for the exit and entrance of vessels. Santa Rosa Island is a strip of land some forty-five miles in length, with varying width, at no point less than half a mile wide. For centuries the surface of the Gulf has rolled and beaten upon its beach, and as yet there has been no perceptible diminution in its size. At least, there exists no record of a change.

The vast hills of glistening white sand are as changeless as the pyramids, and defy the action of the waves.

There is no mystery about this bay which deserves special comment. The first survey made by officers of the U. S. Government, about the year 1812, shortly after the change of flags, was compared with an old Spanish survey, dating back to the occupation of the place by the Spaniards, was found to be precisely similar. In 1857 or 1858 another survey was made, which disclosed the fact that there has been no change as regards the depth of water, &c., for the last sixty years.

The board of engineers that determined upon building Fort Pickens upon the extreme western point of Santa Rosa Island, must have been well satisfied as to the nature of the ground which they selected.

It is generally known that the enormous expense to which shipping is subjected de-rives much of its profits from seeking deep water freights; it is not so generally known, however, that vessels lie in Pensacola Bay and send to New Orleans for freight, and that the freight is carried to the sea in lake, in small vessels, cheaper than they could come to our levee and get it.

Such is the fact that it should arouse us to some action tending to lessen the charges levied upon vessels trading at this port.

In addition to the advantages of the harbor, Pensacola is one of the loveliest sites for a city in the world. The citizens are public-spirited and hospitable, and all seem to vie with each other in seeing who can, and will, do the most to advance the interests of their beautiful city. There is not a more healthy city in the South, and when one stands upon the grass-covered parapet of the old Spanish fort, which overhangs the city and bay, and breathes in the pure and health-giving atmosphere, you are at a loss to understand how, or why, men should sicken and die in that delightful region.

Beyond all doubt, Pensacola is to be the terminus of the route. From this place north to Pollard a road was once in running order, but during the war it was partially destroyed. This road was recently purchased by gentlemen in this city, who are taking steps to repair it. When finished, it will be one link in the chain from Pensacola to Louisville via Selma, Decatur and Nashville, or via Montgomery, Decatur and Nashville. When the entire road is completed, and it will surely be, the time from Louisville to Pensacola will be about (30) thirty hours.

The railroad here referred to will be of vast importance to Louisville and Cincinnati, as well as to the railroads South from Louisville and North to all points. Should the link in the chain from Decatur to Selma or Montgomery never be finished, then the great Southern route of travel must be by the Mobile and Ohio road, which will give Louisville and Cincinnati the "go by." This connection is of such great importance that Cincinnati and Louisville, and the roads radiating therefrom, could well afford to make it if they did not even receive a dollar's worth of the stock in exchange for the money expended. We can safely affirm that the link from Pollard to Pensacola will surely be completed at no very distant day—in fact, the negotiations for the necessary iron are now under headway. Success to the purposed air-line route.

A Louisville "Investigating Committee" City Council Wharf Property—Col. Dent, &c.

Nothing particularly creditable to our local legislative history has been developed in the late "trial" of a prominent member of the Common Council. Were it not for some similitudes to a late "trial" on a more prominent stage, it would not be worthy of even the brief attention we propose giving to it.

Early in April, the Courier, a paper published daily in Louisville, apparently envious of the fame, or infamy, of Ashley, suggested the "impeachment" by the City Council of one who had once been a prominent member thereof, but was at the time a private citizen! This would have been a strange suggestion from any other source! But, nevertheless, the City Council—not because of "greenness," as is apparent from the conclusion of the matter, but because of being wide awake to its own dignity, the notorious unworthiness of the authority of the charge, and to the good sense and intelligence of the people—ordered an "investigating committee;" and thus this local Ashley of ours has been brought into greater contempt than he of Toledo and Washington!

Before the committee "reported," the "indictment" was substantially "quashed" by the election of the very gentleman indicted by the Common Council to be one of its members by the extraordinary vote of 22 out of 32! Is the Courier going to pretend, to take this our exhibit of a striking fact as proof, that the Common Council has been guilty of "bribery and corruption?" Is it to be said, at this late day, that thus, by the fact of such election, the Council gave a verdict before the testimony was submitted? The Courier, and its abettors and sympathizers, knew of this action of the Council, and knew its meaning! They know that every member of the Council was as well posted about the facts of the case before the testimony as they would be after it; and by the very action alluded to, gave notice to call off the pursuers! If the hint was not taken, it is unnecessary to point out where the ridicule comes in!

The Courier reminded us very much of Ashley in its initiatory proceedings. It reminds us very much of Sumner in its "afterclap." After the "High Court" had decided upon its functions by its verdict, Sumner brings in a set of "Resolutions" defining the duties of such "High Court." So after the action of the General Council on Thursday night, the Courier says that such action, of which it had full notice in the very nature of the case and the course of events, was "discreditable" and ought to "banish those engaged in it from all respectable associations." We have no doubt but that the General Council will survive; and are inclined to think that it has already taken an "appeal" from the verdict of the Courier to that of the people, which leaves the former utterly without recourse!

We have not the slightest inclination to impose upon the good nature of our readers by recapitulating or analyzing the testimony given in the case of Col. Dent. The whole matter is as plain to the public as it is to us. "In a nut-shell": the entire case may be stated thus: Col. Dent was one of a party which purchased certain real estate in 1865 and shortly thereafter sold it to the city for more than they paid for it; Col. Dent being at that time a member of the Council which voted for its purchase. To buy and sell property, and make money thereby, is not considered a crime! That Col. Dent made money off of the transaction, seems however to have excited the envy of certain parties, every one of whom would have done the same thing, had he had the chance! "There is where the 'crime' comes in"! The allegations are, that Col. Dent bought the property for the purpose of selling it to the city, and used his influence as a city officer to effect that transfer! About this the salaried City Attorney, after diligent investigation of all the testimony, says, "This is not sustained by the evidence. It does not appear that Col. Dent solicited any member of the committee to report in favor of said purchase; nor does it appear that he solicited any member of the Council to vote for said purchase"! This opinion of the City Attorney was drawn out by a direct demand made upon him by the "investigating committee." It ought to have been considered as conclusive, as it was superfluous. The vote that Col. Dent gave for the purchase of the property in which he had an interest, was only one out of the nineteen yeas to three nays! Not a word of argument, testimony or "opinion" was necessary with this little bit of history on record! Dent's vote would not have sold this property to the city as Wade's vote would have sold the Presidency to himself had it not been for "the man of Boss!"

No idea was ever entertained by any sensible person, that any serious attempt would ever be made to wring from Col. Dent the difference between the cost and sale of the property. That was only a shape assumed for purposes of personal annoyance.

But the whole affair is ended. The Courier may attempt in vain to play the part of Sumner. A vote of fifteen to seven places Col. Dent beyond the reach of all such driveling attacks. His honor needed no vindication. His popularity and strength are now better determined and secured from the very attempts of those who have proved themselves to be his enemies, when personal honor and the credit of the community should have enrolled them as friends.

A Comical Indorsement.—Grant, in his letter, states that a formal expression of his views is proper, and then goes on to say: "In times like the present it is impossible, or, at least, eminently improper, to lay down a policy to be adhered to for four years." When Grant kicks over the platform on which he was nominated, the Radicals cannot say he did not give them fair warning. He tells them their platform is not fit for durance and any man would be an ass or knave who pledged himself to stand for four years on such a thing as that. Grant is partly right. If he had only been a trifle more honest, and said plainly any man was a fool or a jockey who pretended to stand on it at all, he would have come much nearer the truth. As it is, we congratulate the Radicals on the certainty of their downfall. Most likely their candidate will be openly defeated at the polls, but if not, he avows very frankly he intends to cheat them afterwards.

☞Colfax is the antithesis of Grant in his acceptance. Grant says: Gentlemen, I take your nomination, but I intend to bolt your platform as soon as I like. Colfax, on the other hand, says: Gentlemen, I have no principles of my own, but them's my sentiments. I am going for them through thick or thin; good report or bad report, for it is a confounded sight easier to say I am for something somebody else thought for me than to attempt the impossibility of originating any ideas of my own. Therefore, gents, I swallow that platform whole, and you can count it where the whale got Jonah! The language is a little different, but that expresses more clearly and forcibly what the two men mean. One is nothing without his party; knows it, and confesses it, and the other's party is nothing without him, and he doesn't hesitate to say so. A queer couple where the leader swears he is going to kick his platform and follower or vice overboard at the first chance.

☞The Radical nominee was disloyal in 1861, according to the test of loyalty now-a-days. Read what he then wrote to a friend:

> I am a Democrat, every man in my regiment is a Democrat, and when I shall be convinced that this war has for its object any other than what I have mentioned, or the Government designs using its soldiers to execute the purpose of the abolitionists, I pledge you my honor as a soldier that I will carry my sword on the other side and cast my lot with that people.—[Col. U. S. Grant in 1861.

Would General Grant be permitted to take the iron-clad oath prescribed by a Radical Congress? His views were correct then, but he has wandered far away from the faith that was in him in 1861.

LOTIO.

LOTIO! LOTIO!! LOTIO!!!

LOTIO! LOTIO!!

The classic poets have sung to us of a Spring whose ethereal waters impart perpetual youth and beauty to all who will drink of them. It is now conceded by all that the magical effects of the

LOTIO

Far surpass those produced by the waters of that famous spring.

Lawyers, Doctors, Statesmen, whose heads were bald, have used it with constitutional, or, rather hereditary, success. Let us say a word as to the hereditary baldness, without entering into an extended argument.

The brain is the machine that runs the human system; and where will-power as the phrenologists call it, and fluids, together with a large amount of brain, are both largely developed, this character does not let the world move him—he moves the world. If a merchant, his feet are planted on the five continents of the globe; if his business is to map down the orbs of upper worlds, he finds new and untold worlds for investigation; or, as the poet, drags all the horrors or sublimities of the imagination in rhyme before your vision. Such men may never have a day's sickness from the cradle to the tomb; still there is always a slumbering fire, kept alive by the action of the brain, and unless the person uses

To keep their hair healthy, he is certain to become bald. If you wish to see bald heads look at the successful lawyer, doctor, statesman, merchant, banker, &c. He has given every moment of his time and thoughts to his profession, and not once thought of his hair. On the other hand, if the man's development and growth prompt him to be first in the world's drama, but rather remain at the tail end of everything, such men are never bald, without brain fever or some other prostrating sickness brings the hair out.

The two characters described can be found in almost every family—the children of one father. Is baldness then hereditary? Chemists have prepared articles for the hair until there was no sale for it, and then, like a chameleon, change its color and name and nothing else.

PROF. CHRISTY'S

Object was to create something which should last forever. The first success attained was in ascertaining the cause of hair and baldness. The second, the discovery of a vegetable compound, whose nutrient virtues would allay the fever of the overstrained brain, and thousands can testify that the

LOTIO

Is just the thing. If the head is covered with dandruff, something is wrong with the roots of the hair. If the hair is turning gray, it needs doctoring.

CHRISTY'S HAIR LOTIO

Will restore that which has turned gray to its original color. After which, if the LOTIO is applied only once a week, the hair will remain healthy, and retain its natural color until death. If your hair is harsh, dry, and falling out, this is the time to prevent baldness—stop your hair falling out.

PROF. CHRISTY'S HAIR LOTIO

WILL ACTUALLY DO IT.

Ask any one who has used it for satisfactory information.

If you are bald, use the HAIR LOTIO. We can refer to many who, a short time ago, were bald; at the present time it is impossible to find a bald spot on their heads.

The Lotio is richly perfumed.
The Lotio is richly perfumed.
The Lotio is richly perfumed.

The odor of the Lotio is like the breath of summer flowers.

The Lotio is not a dye, but persons who have used dye will find it the best thing for the hair.

The Lotio brings out the natural coloring of the hair, and is decidedly cleaner and cheaper than dye.

There is nothing offensive about the Lotio.

Peremptory Sale of 75 Acres of High and Beautiful Land, divided into 29 and 30 acre Lots, located near Hobbs' Depot, and the rapidly improving little village, "Anchorage," comprising some of the most desirable building sites to be found anywhere, and no healthier location in the State; will be sold

AT AUCTION.

AT our office, No. 60 Jefferson street, between Second and Third.

SATURDAY, JUNE 6th, at 12 M.

This land is part of the Newland Farm, and is situated one-half mile south of Hobbs' Depot, fronting on the county road leading from Hobbs' Depot to Middletown, commanding a fine view of the surrounding country. This is desirable property, as some of the best-improved farms in the market, and splendidly located for country residences, being so near the Louisville and Frankfort Railroad and only twelve miles from the city, making it exceedingly convenient for business men and others to reside there and do business in the city. It will also make a profitable investment as it is rapidly increasing in value. The grade for the proposed Shelbyville Railroad passes through the land. Schools, churches and schools, the very best. Parties desirous of securing a valuable resident site should examine the property before day of sale. Any further information desired can be obtained of J. McMichael, Esq., on the premises; Sidney D. Hobbs, Esq., at Hobbs' Depot; W. H. Wise, Esq., 83 St. Cloud Hotel, Louisville, or of us. A plat of the property can be found at our office.

THE FENIAN ALARM ON THE INCREASE.

Gathering of the Invaders at St. Albans.

PREPARATIONS OF THE AUTHORITIES TO MEET THEM.

TWO CARLOADS OF ARMS ARRIVE AT CHATEAUGAY.

SUSPECTED FENIANS ARRESTED.

The Invasion to Take Place This Month.

[By Telegraph to the Democrat.]

MONTREAL, June 3.—The Fenian scare in Canada in the Dominion is increasing instead of abating, and the authorities add to the fear of an impending raid by the extensive preparations they are making. In this city a large force of four companies of regulars and two battalions of volunteers are in readiness to move at a moment's notice to any point they may be ordered.

All the steamboats have been ordered to draw their requisite amount of rations and ammunition to keep themselves prepared in every particular for a campaign. A large force of British regulars are to be sent to Portland and will be landed at that point. Immense quantities of ammunition and other war material are being forwarded to that point.

At Athlone, Canada, the Fenian sympathizers are jubilant, and boast that the newest move of the movements of the Irish leaders makes it certain that the invasion will take place before the 20th inst.

Two arrests were effected at Sweetsburg yesterday connected with being Fenian spies. Maps and papers implicating them were found in their possession. One of the men has but one arm. The Rouses Point and New York Custom House officials are now confined in jail and strongly guarded.

MALONE, N. Y., June 3.—Fenian fairs are to be held at Malone, N. Y., for the purpose of covering up the collection of money for the coming raid into Canada. A large number of arms are rapidly arriving at this point and elsewhere, and prominent Fenians say and with much confidence that they will have a large force and firm footing in the Dominion. Two car loads of small arms arrived at the Ogdensburg Depot Corners on the 3d, and 1,000 rounds of ammunition is certain to take them the way to Fenian encampment.

Message from British Minister.

WASHINGTON, June 5. The British Minister said he addressed a letter to the Secretary of State calling attention to the fact that the Canadian Government admits American coal free of duty. It has resisted the pressure of the Nova Scotia coal interests to impose a duty of fifty cents per ton on foreign coal, which would exclude common coal from Western Canada, a million dollars worth of which was consumed in that section last year, and this course has been adopted by the Canadian Government in hope the Government of the United States would sanction some reciprocal legislation. The British Minister asks whether this Government is prepared to consider the matter. It having been referred to the Secretary of the Treasury it is said that he replied that Congress having abrogated the old reciprocity treaty he did not consider that paper that anything should reopen the question, unless Congress shall give some indications of its desire to do so. The papers are before the committee on ways and means.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

OFFICE OF THE LOUISVILLE DEMOCRAT, Friday Evening, June 5, 1868.

The local money market continues extremely quiet and easy, and the banks are in a condition to extend prompt and liberal accommodations to their regular customers, and, as a consequence, legitimate business is financially unembarrassed. Interest ranges at from 9 to 12 per cent. at the banks and in the outside market on all first-class commercial paper.

Exchange is steady, at from 50 to 75 premium buying, and sales are made at 1-10 premium.

Government securities are still firm in New York, with an active investment and speculative demand. There has been a slight decline, compared with prices which ruled a few days since, owing entirely to the operation of local causes. Says the Herald, of the 3d:

This will doubtless be immediately succeeded by a sharp rebound, for all the indications are manifestly in favor of a continued improvement until prices reach a higher point than we have yet witnessed for United States bonds. With the funding of the remaining seventy or eighty millions of 7-30 notes all the gold loans will be practically closed, and the growing demand, without any addition being made to the supply, will inevitably cause a steady advance in our national securities both at home and abroad. The investment demand is increasing rather than diminishing, while the purchases by the foreign bankers for shipment continue very heavy. The rapid absorption of bonds which has been going forward in this way of late has of course largely reduced the supply in Wall street, and hence the market is becoming more than usually sensitive to the investment and foreign demand. A further rise of about five per cent. is considered probable by most of the dealers before the present movement culminates, and meanwhile the rush to buy is likely to continue unabated.

The New York market opened to-day with a fair demand and firm, and closed quiet, and on several descriptions of securities a shade lower. The 2:30 dispatch quoted five-twenty coupons, '81, 116½; five-twenty coupons, '62, 112¼; five-twenty coupons, '64, 110⅛; five-twenty coupons, '65, 110¼; five-twenties, new issue, 113; five-twenties, 1867, 113¼; ten-forties, coupons, 106; seven-thirties, second and third series, 106⅝.

The New York gold market continues firm. The Commercial Bulletin, of the 3d, says:

The advance in governments to unprecedented figures creates an apprehension that bonds may be sent home from Europe, and there is a disposition to hold gold with firmness until it is apparent how far the rise in five-twenties is responded to at London.

According to the exhibit made by Mr. Schenck, the chairman of the committee of ways and means in the House of Representatives, yesterday, the actual expenditures of the first nine months of the current fiscal year were $250,678,066, and the estimated expenditures for the other three months are $98,500,000, making a total for the year of say $379,178,066. Of this $119,118,383 is for interest on the public debt. The revenue for the first nine months of the fiscal year amounted to $290,191,459, and for the remaining three months the estimated receipts are $106,300,000, making a total of $395,791,459, of which $165,-398,571 is from customs. These returns are calculated to strengthen the public credit, as they show that the customs receipts alone for the current fiscal year are likely to exceed the interest on the public debt by more than forty millions, while the estimates for the ensuing year show an excess of about thirty millions.

The 10 A. M. dispatch reported the New York market opening to-day at 139⅝, advanced to 140, and at 3 P. M. closed at the opening quotation. Offerings in this market are light and dealers buy at about ½ under New York quotations.

In our conversations with merchants in the various departments of business, the opinion is generally expressed that business during the summer season will be quiet, and the indications now are unusually so. This feature of the markets, however, is by no means peculiar to Louisville. In referring to the subject, the New York Commercial Bulletin says:

It is probable that no great amount of disappointment has been occasioned by the general inactivity of the spring and summer trade. It has been apparent for some time that no marked improvement would take place in advance of the lingathering of the new crops and before the issue of the Presidential election. Hence, business men generally are not taken by surprise. They looked for a certain degree of inactivity, and the only regret is that they were not disappointed. But the results would have been a great deal more disastrous if the mercantile community had been less sagacious. As matters now stand, they are in a position to thle over the difficulties occasioned by a limited demand for goods. Their obligations are narrowed down to a certain proportionate to the contraction of business, and, as a general thing, there is very little indebtedness at the present time. Merchants and manufacturers have only a comparatively small amount of goods on hand, and business generally is confined to the supply of the considerably diminished demand for commodities for immediate consumption.

The summer trade will be marked by the dullness of the winter and spring now seems to be entirely probable. The unusually late and cold spring has both delayed and checked the promise of the ordinary summer activity. Business will suffer also to a large extent from hot weather and politics, and may be only expected to resume its sway when the doubts respecting the harvest and the issue of the Presidential election shall be removed. In the mean time there is nothing in the immediate future to excite apprehension. The country is going through the present crisis and will shake off existing difficulties. Once more it is consuming less than it produces, and stands in a favorable position for resuming a new career of prosperity when a new harvest and the approaching settlement of financial problems shall have imparted the substantial elements of wealth and confidence.

The provision trade is still quiet, and the consumptive demand is very light. Dealers express the opinion that within a brief period there will be an active Southern demand, when prices will again advance. The Southern wheat harvest has commenced, which will be largely sold, and the money thus obtained be used for provisions. The cotton crop will soon be in such a state of forwardness that advances can be made, and, after the 1st of July, we may safely anticipate a more active Southern trade.

The Daily Commercial Report and Market Review gives the following estimate of the stock of provisions held in Chicago on June 1:

Taking the stock of provisions reported to the Packers' Association, April 1, as a basis, and making a proper allowance against the receipts and shipments for the month of April, we estimated the stock on hand, May 1, as follows: 45,531 bbls pork, 26,387 tierces lard and 13,980,000 lbs (net) cut meats. The receipts since were: 15,857 bbls pork, 2,422 tierces lard, 1,413,715 lbs gross, or about 1,290,000 lbs net, of cut meats. The shipments, same time, as taken by us from the impression books of the railroads, were: 37,662 bbls pork, 3,502 tierces lard, 3,068 tierces hams, 657,033 lbs shoulders, and 520,968 lbs middles—a total of cut meats of 2,117,390 lbs net weight. From these figures we obtain the stock of provisions, June 1, as follows:

	Pork, barrels.	Lard, tierces.	Cut Meats pounds.
Stock, May 1, 1868	45,531	26,387	13,980,000
Add receipts, May, 26...	2,422	35	1,290,000
Total	47,953	26,422	15,270,000
Deduct shipments, May, 1868	10,961	3,502	2,117,390
Leaves stock, June 1, 1868	37,055	22,520	13,052,700

In regard to the New York market, the World of the 3d inst. remarks:

The market for all kinds of provisions is very dull, and at weak and declining prices; and the majority of the holders now seem more anxious to realize. The private advices from the West are very discouraging, and we learn from many agents that they have positive orders to purchase nothing at anything like ruling rates, as shipments would only result in a serious loss, and hence the principal outlet at present is the home trade, which is much smaller than had been calculated upon, and does not very materially reduce the supplies, for not only have the present prices high enough to check any speculation, but greatly stimulated the production, and now we find many dealers with more stock on hand than they know what to do with, and rather than they cannot sell it out except at a loss. This state of affairs is pretty general, on the seaboard at least, and we hear of considerable parcels having come here from Boston in order to find a market. In short, to use the words of a leading operator, "there is too much hog," and to get rid of the surplus stock prices must be reduced sufficiently to allow it to be taken more freely as an article of competition with the many cheap styles of food always to be found during the summer season.

The flour market is very dull, the local dealers buying more sparingly than usual. Stocks are light but ample, and dealers have made concessions, and a still further decline is probable. There is but little doing in grain, and prices are nominally unchanged. In regard to breadstuffs the New York World of the 3d, says:

The market has been exceedingly depressed during the past week, and prices have materially declined, in sympathy with the decidedly lower quotations received from Liverpool. It is unquestionable that we now have a surplus which must be shipped, and we are engaged in the not very agreeable work of ascertaining to what figures prices must decline to induce an export movement that will dispose of our surplus.

Bagging and rope is very firm, and the impression prevails that prices will rule higher during the season. This, however, may not be the case. Any probable deficiency in hemp bagging will be more than supplied by the India commodity, the stocks of which in New York and Boston on the 1st inst. amounted to 38,000 bales, and as for cottonties, though the preference is doubtless in favor of rope, planters will not be likely to pay any considerable difference in price.

Cotton continues quiet, but steady. Receipts are light and transactions unimportant. The 5 P. M. Liverpool dispatch reported sales to-day of 10,000 bales—uplands at 11¼d; Orleans, 11¾d. The sales of the week were 51,-000 bales; sales for export, 5,500 bales; sales to speculators, 4,000 bales. The stock is 648,000 bales. The stock of American is 471,000 bales.
